PART I

INTRODUCTION

The Manitoba Law Reform Commission is pleased to present its annual report for 2011-2012.

In 2011, the Commission celebrated its 40th anniversary of promoting law reform in Manitoba. To mark the occasion, the Commission will begin this annual report by offering a few reflections on its role in Manitoba's law reform process.

The term "law reform" has been aptly defined as the "alteration of the law in some respect with a view to its improvement."¹ A systematic process of law reform helps to ensure that the legal system remains responsive to the needs and values of society. Laws that do not adequately respond to current social and legal needs risk creating inequities and undermining faith in the legal system and rule of law.

There are many participants in the law reform process. Legislators, governments, judges, professional organizations, community groups and many private individuals routinely work to effect change in the law. However, the Commission's role in reforming the law is unique. The Commission itself has previously commented on the importance of an agency dedicated to the independent review of law:

"Law Reform Commissions were established in Manitoba and elsewhere in recognition of the fact that common law and statute law have traditionally been unable to keep up fully with ever-changing social conditions. That they are unable to do so should not be surprising. Much of our law is centuries old, originally developed in a piece-meal fashion to meet the needs of feudal England. Courts are only able to effect changes in the law as and when cases in troublesome areas happen to come before them; legislatures are inevitably preoccupied with issues having greater political interest."²

² Manitoba Law Reform Commission, Report on the Manitoba Law Reform Commission: Framework for the Future (Report No. 70, 1988) at 1.

As an independent, dedicated law-reform agency, the Manitoba Law Reform Commission is equipped to undertake extensive research and analysis in a broad range of subjects, free from the demands of an over-crowded legislative agenda. The Commission's 40 years of experience bring consistency and specialized knowledge to the process of law reform. The Commission's work also serves an educational purpose, providing comprehensive, comparative research and analysis on a range of topics not always covered in other sources of legal information or in a typical law school curriculum.

Since its creation by statute in 1971, the Commission has issued 125 reports and 44 informal reports and issue papers, all setting out recommendations for reform in diverse areas of the law. Many of the Commission's recommendations have been implemented in legislation including, most recently, The Franchises Act in 2010 and The Real Property Amendment Act in 2011.

The Commission's statutory responsibility is to review the laws of Manitoba and to make recommendations for change where required. The Commission strives to perform this important duty with expertise, objectivity and continuity. In this milestone year, we celebrate the Commission's past achievements and look forward to many productive years ahead.

The Commission released two official reports in 2011-2012: The Stable Keepers Act and Limitations of Actions in Conversion and Detinue. The Commission released three informal reports dealing with The Animal Care Act, limitations of actions against insurers, and a revision to the Commission's previous recommendations in respect of the remedy of specific performance and the uniqueness of land in Manitoba. The Commission also published its first issue paper in March 2012, concerning access to justice.

The Commission has made several changes in its operations in the past year with the goal of enhancing its visibility and accessibility. Foremost among these are the creation of a new website with more complete content and a more user-friendly design, and the distribution of its reports to a wider audience. Details on these initiatives can be found in Part III of this annual report.

PART II

THE YEAR IN REVIEW April 1, 2011 to March 31, 2012

1. REPORTS ISSUED

The full text and executive summaries of all reports can be found on our website at www.manitobalawreform.ca.

A. The Stable Keepers Act (Report #124)

The Commission embarked on this project at the suggestion of a rural Business Development Specialist with Manitoba Agriculture, Food and Rural Initiatives that The Stable Keepers Act be reviewed. The Commission released a consultation paper in December 2010 with recommendations for modernizing The Stable Keepers Act, and published its final report on November 1, 2011.

The Stable Keepers Act report addresses the right of an animal keeper to claim a lien over animals and gear owned by another in circumstances where the owner fails to pay charges owing. The Stable Keepers Act is effectively unchanged from the time of its enactment in 1884; in recent years provinces with similar legislation have refreshed their statutes. The Commission recommends modernizing the Act by expanding its scope, as reflected in the change in the legislation's title from stable keepers to animal keepers, providing more flexible remedies and prescribing a form of notice. The Commission also recommends that any person with a property interest in the animal or gear be able to make an application to the Court of Queen's Bench for determination of any matter arising out of the operation of the Act.

B. Limitations of Actions in Conversion and Detinue (Report #125)

This report was published on February 8, 2012. The project originated from the Manitoba Law Reform Commission's Limitations report, published in October 2010. In the Limitations report, the Commission expressed its intention to release a separate report dealing with limitations of actions in conversion and detinue.

Conversion and detinue are torts which protect a person's possessory interests in personal property against wrongful interference. This report examines the problems associated with limitations of actions in conversion and detinue and makes recommendations for specific provisions in a new Limitations Act to deal with these types of claims. The recommendations include a provision that the ultimate limitation period run from the first date the personal property is converted or detained; a provision for a good faith purchaser exception to the ultimate limitation period; and a provision extinguishing title to converted or detained goods at the expiry of the ultimate limitation period.

With the publication of this report, the Commission has completed its work in respect of a modern Limitations Act for Manitoba.

C. The Animal Care Act (Informal Report #27)

The Commission submitted this informal report to the Minister on April 20, 2011. The informal report makes recommendations for amendments to The Animal Care Act to strengthen its animal protection provisions. The recommendations are for provisions prohibiting the sale of seized animals to any person related to the individual from whom the animals were originally seized, requiring animal protection officers to respond to complaints from the public, and giving municipal animal control officers the same powers as those enjoyed by provincial animal protection officers.

D. Limitation of Actions Against Insurers (Informal Report #28)

The Commission submitted this informal report to the Minister on September 1, 2011. This report addresses the need for standardization of limitation periods for actions in breach of an insurance contract under The Insurance Act. The report reviews recent changes to legislation in Alberta and British Columbia, and makes general recommendations to further the goal of consistency and accessibility within the provincial limitations regime.

E. The Remedy of Specific Performance and the Uniqueness of Land in Manitoba – Revision to Informal Report #26 (Informal Report #29)

The Commission submitted this informal report to the Minister on September 1, 2011. The Commission's earlier informal report no. 26 made recommendations for legislative amendment to clarify the availability of the remedy of specific performance and uniqueness of land in Manitoba. The revised informal report was submitted in response to recent developments in the case-law concerning the remedy of specific performance.

F. Access to Justice (Issue Paper #1)

The Commission published this issue paper on March 22, 2012. The paper discusses some possible approaches to the problem of restricted access to justice in Manitoba. The Commission focuses on four areas: legal aid; legal insurance; pro bono activities; and, court fee waiver policies.

2. IMPLEMENTATION

Many of the recommendations in the Commission's 2008 Franchise Law report are implemented in The Franchises Act which will come into force on October 1, 2012. The Real Property Amendment Act of 2011 implemented the Commission's recommendations for reducing the complexity involved in sales of land subject to development schemes, as set out in the Development Schemes report of 2006. The Commission continues to urge the Minister of Justice to implement the outstanding recommendations of the Commission. In addition to its most recent reports, areas of particular concern to the Commission are the recommendations relating to: Enduring Powers of Attorney: Supplementary Report (Report #117, 2008), Wills and Succession Legislation (Report #108, 2003), Compensation for Vaccine-Damaged Children (Report #104, 2000) and Informal Assessment of Competence (Report #102, 1999).

3. CURRENT PROJECTS

A. The Nuisance Act and The Farm Practices Protection Act

The common law torts of public nuisance and private nuisance have historically been important legal tools in the resolution of land use conflicts. The Nuisance Act and The Farm Practices Protection Act have significantly altered the common law of nuisance in Manitoba.

The Nuisance Act restricts the availability of actions in odour-related nuisance. The Commission is examining the history of the Act and its current role within Manitoba's legal landscape to determine whether it continues to serve a useful legislative purpose.

The Farm Practices Protection Act restricts the availability of nuisance actions in the context of agricultural operations. The Act's procedural aspects have been amended periodically since its enactment in 1992, but many of its substantive provisions remain unchanged. The Commission is reviewing the Act to determine whether reform is needed to enhance the utility of this legislation.

B. Elder Law

The Commission is reviewing the laws of Manitoba with the intention of publishing a series of reports on discrete legal issues affecting older adults in Manitoba. The Commission will identify legislative gaps in such areas as health care decision-making and housing, and make recommendations for reform.

4. UPDATE ON PREVIOUS PROJECTS

A. Review of Defamation Law Respecting Journalism and Anti-SLAPP Legislation

In 2007, Professor Philip Osborne of the Faculty of Law, University of Manitoba, suggested that the Commission examine the law of defamation respecting journalists, with particular emphasis on publications concerning matters of public interest. After completing the initial investigative stage, consulting with journalists and lawyers, and the writing of the first draft of a report, the Commission put the project in abeyance to await commentary about the eventual decisions of the Supreme Court of Canada in *Cusson v. Quan*³ and *Grant v. Torstar Corp.*⁴ These cases addressed the question of whether a defendant in a defamation action can rely on a defence of responsible journalism in the public interest. This defence has been recognized in other common law jurisdictions.

In Cusson and Grant, the Supreme Court of Canada recognized a common law defence of responsible communication on a matter of public interest, available to anyone who publishes material of public interest in any medium. Commentary has been favourable,⁵ although not without some concerns and suggestions for further protection of freedom of expression.⁶ In light of this jurisprudence and academic commentary, the Commission has concluded that not only is it premature to assess the sufficiency of the new defence, but ultimately further modification of the law of defamation, if any, is best left to the courts. The Commission has therefore decided to not pursue a project in respect of defamation law respecting journalism.

⁶ See Cameron, supra note 5; Tarantino, supra note 5; Sutherland, supra note 5.

On a related subject, the Commission has also considered the question of anti-SLAPP legislation. The acronym SLAPP stands for strategic lawsuits against public participation, and refers to tort litigation launched with the intent of stifling public participation in such activities as reporting health and environmental violations, filing complaints with government agencies, circulating petitions, writing letters, speaking at meetings and hearings, and engaging in public information campaigns. Legislation designed to prevent this type of litigation has been implemented in the province of Quebec and in several jurisdictions outside Canada, and has also been recommended by the Uniform Law Conference of Canada. While the Supreme Court of Canada's decisions in Cusson and Grant are relevant to this issue, some commentators submit that they do not provide adequate protection to members of the public who may find themselves SLAPP targets.⁷ While this is a matter of considerable interest to the Commission, it will not be conducting a project in this regard. The recent report of Ontario's Anti-SLAPP Advisory Panel, released in October 2010, provides an extensive review of this issue and is available to the public.

B. Pension Benefits and Marital Breakdown

The issue of division of pension benefits on marital breakdown has been on the Commission's list of pending projects for several years. However, in light of the enactment of comprehensive pension reform legislation in Manitoba in 2010, the Commission has elected to discontinue this project.

5. FUTURE PROJECTS

The Commission is contemplating a number of future projects, including:

- Contiguous lands: natural and other encroachments
Natural encroachments comprise mostly trees and weeds. Other encroachments include buildings, driveways and fences. The common law governs natural encroachments, other than noxious weeds for which there is legislation. Other encroachments are governed by common and statute law. Large areas of the law respecting both natural and other encroachments are confusing and uncertain. The Commission will inquire into possible reform in this area.
- The Trustee Act
Although Manitoba's Trustee Act has been a model for Canada, other provinces have recently made improvements to their statutes which merit consideration, as do recent reports of several law reform agencies. Among others, the Winnipeg Chapter of the Society of Trust and Estate Practitioners has made several suggestions for reform.

- The Environment Act
Working with the stakeholders, the Commission will examine sections of The Environment Act pertaining to environmental assessments and make recommendations for modernization and reform.
- The Tortfeasors and Contributory Negligence Act
The Commission will make recommendations for clarifying and modernizing the law of joint tortfeasor liability and contributory negligence.
- Public Interest Standing
The Commission will inquire into whether the rules restricting the ability to bring an action in cases of public interest should be amended.

The Commission welcomes comments and suggestions with respect to these subject areas and any other projects that may be appropriate for review.

PART III

ADMINISTRATION

1. THE COMMISSIONERS

The Manitoba Law Reform Commission is composed of five to seven members appointed by the Lieutenant Governor in Council. Section 3 of The Law Reform Commission Act requires that the Commission's membership include a judge of the Court of Queen's Bench, a full-time member of the Faculty of Law, University of Manitoba; a lawyer entitled to practise in Manitoba and not in the employ of the government; and a non-lawyer. The current members of the Commission and their terms of office are as follows:

Commissioner	Affiliation	Term expires
Cameron Harvey, Q.C.	Professor Emeritus, Faculty of Law University of Manitoba	June 21, 2009*
John C. Irvine	Professor, Faculty of Law University of Manitoba	August 20, 2009*
Gerald O. Jewers	Justice, Court of Queen's Bench (retired)	June 21, 2009*
Perry W. Schulman	Justice, Court of Queen's Bench	July 25, 2010*

* Awaiting Order in Council for re-appointment.

At the present time, the Commission does not have a practising lawyer member or a non-lawyer member. The Commission is awaiting an Order in Council to fill these two vacancies and to re-appoint the current members.

During the 2011-2012 fiscal year, the Commission held seven regular meetings.

2. STAFF

The Commission currently consists of one full-time legal counsel, Catherine Skinner, and one part-time Administrator, Debra Floyd.

3. FINANCE

The Manitoba Law Foundation provides a yearly grant of $100,000 to the Commission. For the fiscal year 2011-2012, the Commission was again fortunate to receive an additional $20,000 from the Manitoba Law Foundation, increasing the grant to $120,000. The Department of Justice continues to provide a combination of in-kind services ($15,000) and a grant ($85,000), for a total of $100,000.

The Commission wishes to thank both the Department of Justice and the Manitoba Law Foundation for their continued support of its work.

4. EXTERNAL RELATIONS AND ACTIVITIES

The Commission recognizes the importance of community outreach in maintaining the relevance and quality of law reform initiatives in Manitoba. In 2011-2012, the Commission took several steps to improve its accessibility and visibility within the community and to liaise with other law reform agencies.

Foremost among these initiatives is the Commission's new website which features more complete content, including electronic copies of all of the Commission's 125 reports, a more user-friendly lay-out and an up-to-date design. The website was developed throughout the last quarter of the 2011-2012 fiscal year, and is now live at www.manitobalawreform.ca.

The Commission's new practice of publishing issue papers on discrete law reform topics is also intended to reach a larger audience and to encourage public involvement in its work. Historically, the Commission has made recommendations for law reform in two types of reports, official and informal. Official reports appear in print and are distributed to members of the Legislative Assembly of Manitoba and other interested parties. Printed copies of the official reports are available at Statutory Publications, and electronic versions also appear on the Commission's website. Informal reports typically deal with more discrete legal issues and are submitted directly to the Minister of Justice and Attorney General. The most recent of these informal reports also appear on the Commission's website.

In early 2012, the Commission ended the practice of issuing informal reports and began publishing issue papers to address the types of narrowly defined legal topics formerly dealt with in informal reports. These issue papers will be circulated to a wider audience by email and through publication on the Commission's website.

The Commission is a member of the Federation of Law Reform Agencies of Canada and of the Commonwealth Association of Law Reform Agencies. Commission staff participated in the meetings of the Uniform Law Conference of Canada and the Federation of Law Reform Agencies of Canada in August 2011, and continues to be involved in a ULCC working group work examining the need for reform of commercial tenancies law. The Hon. Gerald Jewers represented the Commission at the Manitoba Bar Association's Town Hall Meeting on Access to Justice in Winnipeg in June 2011. The Commission also began preparations for a Continuing Professional Development seminar to be delivered in the fall of 2012.

The Commission makes regular contributions to the Manitoba Bar Association's Legal Research Section newsletter, The Law and Library Monthly.

The Commission's publications have been the subject of commentary in judgments, legal journals, and in the print and electronic media. A recent electronic search indicates that the Manitoba Law Reform Commission's publications have been referred to in 110 reported Canadian judgments, and in 72 academic articles.

PART IV

CONCLUSION

The Commission again wish to express its thanks to the Manitoba Law Foundation and to the Department of Justice for their continued support.

Thanks also to the staff of the Department of Justice, the Faculty of Law, Provincial Archives and Legislative libraries for their continued assistance over the past year.

The Commission is grateful for the assistance of the Deputy Minister, Mr. Jeffrey Schnoor, Q.C. in providing a liaison between the Commission and the Minister. Finally, the Commission thanks the Minister of Justice and Attorney General, the Hon. Andrew Swan, for his support.
